In our heads, when we think of Christopher Kane we imagine sexy little multicoloured dresses that would make posh spice weap with envy. Certainly not green tea!

But when you're a super busy, super hot fashion designer like this native Scot you simply don't have time to drink your daily dosage of green tea, dahhling. That's why Teavigo have come up with a beautifully designed range of tablets and sweeties with each dose giving the equivalent of a whopping five cups of green tea.

So if like Chris you're too busy to sip tea, get hold of some Teavigo pronto!

Teavigo products are available from www.teavigo.com. Prices start from £10.
